RECEIVES CERTIFICATE—Herman Cone, president of Cone Mills Corporation, accepts a 50-year certificate of award presented by Charles R. Sligh, Jr., president of the National Association of Manufacturers. The certificate was awarded to Cone Mills in commemoration of half century membership in the NAM. The presentation was made at a luncheon meeting of Greensboro industrialists last week.

INTERESTING HOBBY—Robert C. Lineberry, retired master mechanic of Revolution Division Flannel Plant, is shown in his workshop at his home on Route 1 with some of the things he has made. The clock at right was patterned after one owned by Mr. Lineberry's grandfather. "Although I have not seen it in 60 years," says Mr. Lineberry, "I recall it quite well. It was fitted with eight-day sessions movement and is a combination grandfather clock and gun cabinet." The grandfather clock on the left is solid mahogany and was constructed from factory plans. It is fitted with a super chime master deluxe movement and has the tubular bell-type chimes like those of Big Ben on Westminster Abbey in London. It sounds four notes on the quarter hour, eight on the half and so on to 16 on the hour. The moving moon dial to which Mr. Lineberry is pointing, shows the phases of the moon. The cupboard, center, was scaled down to fit a small space in the breakfast nook. The clock, cupboard, table and lamps were all built from solid walnut from trees on Mr. Lineberry's farm. Mr. Lineberry says that these items were not built for profit but for the joy of creating; however, they may be had at moderate cost.

Vocational Classes To Begin Next Two Weeks

Although there will be no regular "opening week" for vocational classes, as in past years, the first of the 1953-54 classes will begin during the coming week and the week following. Other classes may be arranged during the next few weeks.

On Monday, October 5, Raymond Kincaid, assistant superintendent at Proximity Plant, plans to begin a Textile Arithmetic class. The group will meet for organization at 7 p.m. in the Proximity Branch of Cone Memorial YMCA.

On Wednesday, October 7, at 6 p.m., Richard Sullivan will begin a Mechanical Drawing class. The meeting place is the same room as last year, over the Employment Office at Revolution.

On Tuesday night, October 13, at 6 p.m. J. A. (Pete) Costner will organize an E Model Loom Fixing class at the Proximity Y.

On Thursday night, October 15, at 7 p.m., those interested in continuing their theory and practice shop courses will meet at the White Oak Branch of the Y. All old students are invited to return but new members will not be admitted this year.

At Revolution, a Textile Arithmetic course will be organized if there are sufficient employees interested. Those who would like such a course should give their names to their overseers or to Assistant Superintendent J. W. Ritter.

Other classes will probably be formed during the next few weeks. They will be announced in The Textorian and so far as possible on the department and YMCA bulletin boards.

Your attic, stuffed with papers and magazines, is a potential fire hazard. Don't hoard litter.

Children and matches can be a fatal combination. Keep matches out of reach in metal containers.

CONVENTION SPEAKER—Henry D. Grimes, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Y's Men's Clubs, will be principal speaker at the Southeastern Regional convention of Y's Men at Camp Herman tomorrow. Resident of Quincy, Mass., Mr. Grimes is assistant chief chemist of the American Woolen Company. He is a former member of the National Council of YMCA, and past chairman of the Northern New England section of American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists. He is past president of the Lawrence Y's Men's Club. Mr. Grimes is author of a new book, "The History of Y'sdom."

Your furnace won't put up with neglect. Faulty connections and pipes cause 50,000 fires a year.

Combustible cleaning fluid used indoors is no respecter of persons. Use nonflammable type.

Pineville Supervisors Tour Local Plants

W. D. Wilbanks, assistant superintendent of Pineville Plant, Pineville, accompanied by members of the plant's supervisory staff, made inspection tours of White Oak and Print Works Plants last Friday. They were divided with two groups rotating visits to the two plants in morning and afternoon. The supervisors were guests at an informal luncheon at White Oak Hotel. In the evening W. H. White and Herman Cone, Jr., were hosts at a Brunswick stew at Mr. White's home on Independence Road.

Those making the tours with Mr. Wilbanks were A. D. Sims, W. C. Vick, G. E. Scott, F. A. Ferguson, A. L. Hildreth, Barney H. Giles, C. S. King, C. P. Cook, L. W. Taylor, F. O. Holley, Julian May, Billy Smith, J. T. Lowery, H. C. Christmas and Harold Carpenter.

In addition to the above the following attended the Brunswick stew: Clarence N. Cone, Chester Arnold, Sherman Basinger, Marshall Gardner and Cleo Honeycutt. Eugene Way and Ned Cooper of Edna Plant, Reidsville, made the stew.

Vocational Class Opening Schedule

Monday, October 5 — Textile Arithmetic: Raymond Kincaid, instructor. Proximity, 7 p.m.

Wednesday, October 7 — Mechanical Drawing: Richard Sullivan, instructor. Training Department class rooms.

Tuesday, October 13 — E Model Loom Fixing: J. A. "Pete" Costner, instructor. Proximity Y, 6 p.m.

Thursday, October 15 — Machine Shop Theory and Machine Shop Practice: C. C. Henson and John Cole, instructors. White Oak Y, 7 p.m.

Fire Prevention Week Emphasizes Fire Causes

Fire Prevention Week is October 4-10. During next week fire drills will be held in the schools throughout the city and programs on fire prevention will be given to various organizations. The Greensboro Fire Prevention Bureau will conduct inspection tours.

Citizens are warned that fires are possible at all times and that practicing safety measures in this connection is not just for one week each year only.

From January 1 to September 1 of this year, the fire loss in Greensboro has been $325,554.81, over $151,643.26 of last year at this time.

Up until August 31 of this year, there had been 689 fires in the city, 216 of these in buildings, the remainder in brush and rubbish.

During that same period of time, 689 alarms had been turned in, 495 of them by telephone. Thirteen common causes of fire are: too many wires from one outlet, no fireproof rest for irons, no fireplace screen, replacing blown fuses with larger ones, hot ashes emptied in wooden containers, striking matches in closets, attics stuffed with old paper, children playing with matches, using a match to discover a gas pipe leak, combustible cleaning fluid used indoors, neglected furnaces and careless smokers.

Highlight of the convention will be talks by Henry G. Grimes of Lawrence, Mass., secretary-treasurer of Y's Men International. He will speak at the banquet Saturday night and at lunch Sunday morning. Edgar Hartley, acting interstate secretary of the Carolinas, will be toastmaster at the banquet Saturday evening.

A new regional director will be elected to replace Rev. Lawrence Strunk, Kannapolis, whose term of office will expire this month.

Y's Men's clubs in 12 cities are expected to be represented. They will represent clubs in Greensboro Central, Draper, Leaksville, Kannapolis, High Point, Canton and Albemarle; Pulaski, Galax, Fries, Va.; and Bluefield, West Virginia.

Divisional Quotas For Chest Given

Quotas for 27 divisions in the 1954 Greensboro Community Chest appeal were announced this week by Ben Cone, general campaign chairman.

More than 2,000 workers will begin a city-wide canvass next Wednesday in a two-week intensive drive for $302,902.85, the 1954 goal.

Around 300 Chest workers convened at Greensboro College last night (September 30) to receive campaign literature and instructions on how to carry the message that "3 out of 4" benefit directly from the local Chest to Greensboro residents.

Sponsored by 12 local civic clubs as evidence of their support of the Chest and its no-funds-for-food policy, the meeting marked the first time workers have met en masse in Greensboro Chest campaign history.

A total of $238,252.85 has been

YMCA Campaign Winners Honored

Carson Rhew of White Oak was individual winner in the Cone Memorial YMCA membership campaign which closed last Saturday night with a victory dinner. The campaign plaque went to the White Oak-Print Works group. Speaker for the event was Sydney M. Cone, Jr., vice president of Cone Mills Corporation, who was named by the membership committee as sponsor of the Y drive.

Basing his talk on the importance of citizens having a fixed place in the community and a sense of responsibility in the community in this day when large numbers of people migrate from city to city, Mr. Cone complimented the volunteer Y campaign workers as citizens who are laying the foundation upon which this country can live and grow. He pointed out that individuals with a feeling for community responsibility are setting the cornerstone for the community, the state and the nation, giving this country a direct

Cone Mills To Honor 876 Employees With 25 Yrs. or More Service

Eight hundred and seventy-six employees who have been with Cone Mills Corporation's Greensboro plants for 25 years or more will be honored at a barbecue on Saturday night, October 10, at 6 o'clock at Greensboro Tobacco Warehouse. Herman Cone, president, will speak at this fifth annual event honoring the company's long-service employees.

Two who have completed a half century of service since last year's honor banquet will be special guests Saturday night. They are Mrs. Myrtle Oakes and Mrs. Emma Branch, employees in the Weaving Department of Proximity Plant.

This brings the total of actively employed 50-year employees to nine. Others are Saul F. Dribben, president of Cone Mills Inc., New York, who has been with the company since 1894; R. H. Armfield, White Oak Plant, 1906; Jeffery L. Oakley and Leslie L. Oakley, Weaving Department, Revolution Division Flannel Plant, 1900; Miss Bessie E. Scott, Spinning Department, Proximity Plant, 1901; Martin J. Leach, Weaving Department, Proximity Plant, 1901; Arthur C. Maness, Carpenter Shop, Proximity Plant, 1902.

Eighty-one employees who have achieved 25 years' service at Cone Mills within the past year will receive blue and gold service pins bearing the Cone Seal of 25-years' service.

The pins will be presented by vice presidents in charge of the local plants: Clarence N. Cone, Marion W. Heiss and Sydney M. Cone, Jr. Mr. Clarence Cone will present the pins to White Oak and TEACHERS' TEA—New teachers in schools in the Cone Mills area are shown as they were being served at the reception for all teachers in the area last week at White Oak Branch of Cone Memorial YMCA. They are Miss Elizabeth Garbier, Edgemoor School; Mrs. Betty Briggs and Mrs. Dorothy Melvin, Caesar Cone School; Miss Eloise Causey and Mrs. Margaret Sparrow, Proximity School. At left is Mrs. H. M. Angel, seated is Mrs. Lowell Steele and standing third from left is Mrs. Frances Funderburk, who greeted the teachers.

PROXIMITY SUGGESTION—Broadus Sharpe, Winding Department of Proximity Plant, suggested addition of an attachment on the end of the winder which breaks the ends down when the cones are ready to be doffed. Up until he made this suggestion, the winder had to break down the ends. This attachment helps prevent double ends on the back of cones.

Well-qualified

It is entirely probable that by the time The Textorian is printed, President Eisenhower will have filled the vacancy in the United States Supreme Court.

Although there has been enormous support for the appointment of an able jurist from North Carolina, Judge John J. Parker, we are very much afraid that he will not receive the appointment. We are further afraid that the appointment will be made with political strategy in mind rather than one hundred percent on the basis of qualifications.

We are not naive to the extent of believing that politics can be completely divorced from considerations in filling vacancies; however, we firmly believe that the appointment of a justice to the United States Supreme Court should be influenced less by politics than any other type of appointment.

Judge Parker has the highest reputation as a competent, well-qualified jurist. Even the campaign conducted against him when he was appointed before, which led to his failure to obtain confirmation, did not include a tax upon either his integrity or his ability. He failed to receive confirmation because he actually was following the law as it was written at that time in making a decision.

In our book, it is the responsibility of the members of the Supreme Court to interpret the laws and the Constitution as they exist and not as they or others might think they should be written.

Of course, it is realized that neither laws nor the Constitution are so written that there is not latitude for interpretation. Judge Parker's decision which deprived him of a seat on the Supreme Court was, in our opinion, not one of interpretation in a broad sense, but a decision based upon what the Judge considered as clear-cut law.

It is our opinion that Judge Parker is as well-qualified for that important public service as any citizen in the United States today.

We do not mean to infer that an appointee by the President will not be well-qualified for the job, but we seriously doubt whether he will be as well-qualified as Judge Parker.

We have high respect for the judgment of the President of the United States and his administrative advisers, but we feel in this case that political expediency may be weighed too heavily in making the appointment.

LISTEN AMERICANS!

...by George S. Benson
President of Harding College

John Q. Citizen has two responsibilities which must be acted upon at once if our federal government ever again is to balance its budget and get on a safe and sound financial foundation. They are: (1) give positive assurance to your representatives in Congress that economy cuts, even on your pet federal projects and services, will be accepted without a squawk; and (2) give positive assurance that you expect immediate fulfillment of the administration's pledge to balance the budget, to start reducing the national debt, and to cut taxes substantially.

Most American citizens are willing to take these positive measures, but being willing and then actually arousing oneself to positive action are two different things. Those who want a balanced budget and reduced taxes, and who are willing to accept economy cuts in any and all federal operations, are the very ones who are not acting on their wishes. The fact that there are about 15 or 20 of them to every one citizen who doesn't care whether the budget is balanced, makes no difference in Washington—if they continue to remain silent and inactive.

Government financing can never be entirely entrusted in office-holders whose jobs are dependent upon the practice of politics. The citizenry as a whole must be a watchdog and constantly demand and require sound financial practices. History reports the decline and fall of many nations whose people were lulled into apathy toward the financial affairs of their government. Spending borrowed money and building up debt over a continuing number of years, with the resultant money inflation, has spelled the doom of these great nations.

Today in the United States, the national income is the highest in history. There is no significant unemployment. Jobs are plentiful; new businesses are opening every day. Private enterprise has demonstrated it is capable of taking up the slack as big government spending is whittled down along with its 25 to 90 percent taxation on incomes.

If our federal budget cannot be balanced now, when can it be balanced?

I'm afraid the answer would be, never! But it can be balanced in the 1954-55 fiscal year. And it will be—if enough people who care about their future and the future of their children will speak up and act in the true role of American citizens.

The Haw River Christian Church held its annual Homecoming Service on the past Sunday. There was special music by the choir during the morning service, which was conducted by the pastor, Rev. Dwight Jackson. A picnic dinner was held on the lawn at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilkins. This was one of the nicest Homecoming Services that has been held by the Church.

The Thelma Cates Class of the Haw River Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. Lynn Garrett on Monday evening. Mrs. Manuel Williamson was co-hostess. Mrs. Juanita James had charge of the program. After the program, the business session was conducted by the president. During the business session a sunshine box was prepared to send to a shut-in. The class gave a donation to be sent to the bishop to help to build new Methodist Churches in North Carolina. A lengthy discussion was carried on planning ways to help build the Sunday School. After the business meeting, Mrs. Garrett and Mrs. Williamson invited the members into the kitchen where a party plate with coffee was served. A tour of Mrs. Garrett's new home was made by the class.

Television was enjoyed in the den. New officers for the class for the coming year are: president, Mrs. J. C. Clayton; vice-president, Mrs. W. L. James; secretary, Mrs. Hassel Lassiter; asst. secretary, Mrs. Haywood Ray; treasurer, Mrs. Nell McCall, and flower treasurer, Mrs. Gary Crutchfield.

Mrs. David Hudgins has returned to Granite after a leave of absence for several months. Mrs. David Kimrey and Mrs. James Kimrey are new at Granite.

The first meeting of the Haw River P.T.A. was held on Tuesday evening. A very good attendance was present. After a covered dish supper, Mrs. Ernest Byrd installed the new officers for the year. The new officers for the coming year are: president, Mrs. James T. Martin; vice-president, Mrs. Bowland; secretary, Mrs. Coe, and treasurer, Allen Pearson.

The safety committee reported that a plan was being prepared to insure the safety of small children crossing the highways.

On Thursday evening the Haw River Indians played Summerfield High School in football. The Indians won by the score of 18-0. Pete Stout scored two touchdowns.

The death of Jesse Midkiff of the Finishing Department was a shock to the people of Haw River. Jesse was one of the promising young stock-car racers. He was killed in the race last week end.

The night circle of the Haw River Methodist Church met with Mrs. Horace Browning on Monday evening in her home. Mrs. Ernest Workman presided at the business session it was decided to try to finish up all of the projects that the circle has going on at the present. After the business session, Mrs. Browning led the devotional program. During the social hour Mrs. Browning, assisted by Mrs. Rudy Montgomery, served pineapple ice cream and cake to the members present.

Robert Jones of the Cutting Department has been absent from work for the past two weeks due to sickness.

The Haw River Kiwanis Club had a safety meeting on Tuesday evening. A police officer from Burlington was the main speaker.

Advertising Pays Off For Cotton Industry

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—More than $17,000,000 will be spent this year to advertise cotton products to American consumers through magazines alone, Ed Lipscomb of the National Cotton Council told the 7th District convention of the Advertising Federation of America here this week.

The figure, Mr. Lipscomb said, does not include untold millions spent in local newspapers by both manufacturers and retailers, or the heavy volume of advertising devoted to shorting, margarine and other products of cottonseed.

"Such progress," he said, "has substantial significance for the southern states where more people are engaged in the production of cotton than in any other activity, where farm income from cotton exceeds by 3 to 1 the income from any other field crop, and where the processing of cotton fiber and seed constitutes the region's largest industrial payroll."

Mr. Lipscomb told the luncheon meeting of advertising men from seven southeastern states that in no single year since the cotton industry began utilizing modern advertising and sales techniques has domestic consumption of its products been as low as it was in the highest year of its preceding history. "It is further significant," he added, "that cotton's greatest gains have been made in wearing apparel and household markets where individual consumer choice may be influenced by advertising and promotion, and that its greatest losses have been in industrial markets where mass purchases on a price basis are the dominating consideration."

As an illustration of the extent to which a public relations program aimed ultimately at public officials may directly influence the sale of a product, Mr. Lipscomb pointed out that margarine, a product made largely of cottonseed oil, had grown from a level of 150 million pounds in 1940 to more than a billion pounds last year. "When the program got underway," he said, "39 states and the federal government either prohibited the sale of colored margarine entirely, or taxed it so heavily as to keep it off the market. Today, with federal discriminations removed and only two states holding to prohibitive taxes, consumers are demanding more than seven times as much of the product as formerly."

In reviewing the sales promotion and public relations activities of the National Cotton Council, Mr. Lipscomb paid high tribute to the work of Alice Corr, 1953 Maid of Cotton who was selected by southern ad clubs to reign as queen of their convention.

"The Maid of Cotton program is frequently thought of largely in terms of glamour and excitement," he said, "but behind the shiny exterior is a tremendously hard-working sales job, and a serious plan and purpose which goes directly back to the people and soil of southern cotton farms." As outstanding benefits of the Maid of Cotton to the industry, aside from publicity, Mr. Lipscomb listed: "The work she makes it possible for us to do with the nation's topmost designers of women's apparel; the cooperation she makes it possible for us to enlist from top U. S. department stores who sponsor her fashion shows; the public relations job she does for the industry through her activities in the nation's capital; the work she does in building good will among cotton's customers overseas; and the fact that this year she attracted the expenditure of approximately $480,000 of cooperative funds by various organizations and groups participating in the program."

Event To Benefit Stray Animals

On October 21, at 6:30 p.m. at the City Club House, Battleground Lake, the Sportsman's Wildlife Club and the Guilford County Humane Society will put on a big barbecue. Funds will go for establishment of a county animal shelter, the only practical way to handle the stray animal problem.

There will be over 100 door prizes given away, favors for all as long as they last, and a very elaborate display of fireworks. Included among this display will be the firing of a shell, so huge that this is the only time such a shell has ever been fired in this part of the United States. This shell retails for forty dollars and has been donated by one of the nation's leading pyrotechnists, Wilbur Liza of Dunbar, Pa. Also, a special comical finale is planned for the fireworks display that is sure to please young and old alike.

Tickets are $1.50 for the entire evening and may be purchased in advance by writing to James Womack, 1000 N. Elm Avenue, or to Jack Rimmer at Radio Station WCOC.

- 4 little plant workers one went on a spree smoked a cigarette near solvent then there were three.
- 3 little plant workers one tried to get through but the aisle was cluttered then there were two.
- 2 little plant workers one when day was done hot rodded through the parking lot then there was one.
- 1 little plant worker jumped the gun avoided the nurse, doctored himself then there were none.
- 10 in all started now there are none SAFETY would have spoiled their beneficiaries' fun.
